The Commons: What It Is, How to Reclaim It: A Dialogue between Michael Hardt and Raj Patel

Michael Hardt received his MA and PhD from the University of Washington. His most recent books, co-written with Antonio Negri, are "Commonwealth" (2009), "Multitude: War and Democracy in the Age of Empire" (2004) and "Empire" (2000). With their sweeping insights into the political, legal, economic and social aspects of globalization, these texts are considered major events in political and critical theory. He is also the author of "Gilles Deleuze: An Apprenticeship in Philosophy" (1993), "Labor of Dionysus: A Critique of the State-Form" (co-written with Antonio Negri, 1994), "Radical Thought in Italy: A Potential Politics (Theory out of Bounds)" (co-edited with Paolo Virno, 1996) and "The Jameson Reader" (co-edited with Kathi Weeks, 2000). Based at Duke University, Hardt currently serves as editor of the South Atlantic Quarterly.

Raj Patel is an award-winning writer, activist and academic. He has degrees from the University of Oxford, the London School of Economics and Cornell University and is currently a visiting scholar at UC-Berkeley's Center for African Studies, an honorary research fellow at the School of Development Studies at the University of KwaZulu-Natal and a fellow at the Institute for Food and Development Policy, also known as Food First. In addition to numerous scholarly publications, he regularly writes for the Guardian, and has contributed to the Los Angeles Times, the New York Times, the San Francisco Chronicle, The Mail on Sunday and the Observer. His first book was "Stuffed and Starved: The Hidden Battle for the World Food System" (2008) and his latest, "The Value of Nothing" (2010) is a New York Times bestseller.

Our mission is to promote scholarly research through fellowships and awards; foster critical conversations across disciplines; create and sustain an intellectual community for the exchange of ideas; and support lectures, conferences, seminars, study groups and symposia in the Taft disciplines. Above all, we hope to fulfill and further Annie Sinton Taft's own vision of sustaining a "concentration of interest in the development of ideas."

In 1930, Annie Sinton Taft endowed the Charles Phelps Taft Memorial Fund in honor of her late husband. Today, members of the Taft family serve as trustees of the endowment.

"A concentration of interest in the development of ideas."
